TERRITORIAL NEWS

Las Vegas Grant Project.

D. A. Camfield and J. W. McCreery of Greeley, Colo., and A. W. Thompson of Fort Collins, arrived at Las Vegas on the 11th inst. to close a contract with the trustees of the Las Vegas grant for the deed to the Las Vegas lands on the grant, on the agreement that the Colorado men are to commence work at once on an immense irrigation system to put the whole tract under ditch.

The cost of the project will not be less than $500,000 and may exceed that sum. It is one of the biggest private projects ever undertaken in New Mexico.

The phenomenal fertility of the lands on the Las Vegas grant has been amply demonstrated, splendid crops of grain of all kinds having been grown successfully there by dry farming.

With irrigation there is no reason why the Las Vegas grant should not raise the finest crops in the world.

The people of Las Vegas believe the beginning of this project is the beginning of a new era for Las Vegas and San Miguel county.

Growing Mining Camp.

An Albuquerque dispatch says: Further reports of the silver and gold strike in the brakes of the Canadian river, five miles from Logan, N. M., on the Rock Island railroad, indicate that a thriving mining camp is being rapidly built up.

Recent assays of ore return $12.50 gold, $350 in silver and heavy lead, copper and iron values.

Miners are making $5 and $6 a day washing gold out of the gravel in the arroyos. That gold and silver ore is there in abundance is not to be disputed.

Three hundred claims have been staked out and hundreds of prospectors are going in daily. Many houses are going up, wells are being drilled and a good-sized town has sprung up. No liquor or profanity is allowed and the camp is being conducted on strictly moral principles.

Railroad Grading to Begin.

The Denver Republican of the 11th inst. says: Grading outfits are expected to begin establishing camps within the next thirty days for the Arizona & Colorado Railroad Company, of which Epes Randolph is president, and which will extend from Gallup, N. M., to Farmington, in the same territory.

It is understood that connections will be made with the Southern Pacific at Lordsburg, and it is believed by railroad men that the Union Pacific has gained control of the Arizona & Colorado, and will utilize it as the long-talked-of line connecting the Southern Pacific and the Union Pacific.

Right of way agents are said to have closed contracts for the line clear into Durango, and to the coal fields near that city, where Harriman recently bought valuable deposits. Terminal lands in Durango have been secured.

Baseball at Territorial Fair.

Fifteen hundred dollars in prizes is offered the teams competing in the big baseball tournament at the Twenty-ninth New Mexico Fair and Resources Exposition in Albuquerque from the 11th to the 17th of October. The fair series this year is expected to bring out the very best baseball talent in the Southwest. Raton, Las Vegas, Trinidad, Santa Fe, Gallup, Socorro, El Paso, Alamogordo, Belen and a dozen other towns will enter teams and will send aggregations, strengthened at every available point with the best ball players they can secure for love or money.

Judge McFie denied a rehearing to W. A. Buddecke of St. Louis, who sought to set aside the sale by master of the property of the Las Vegas Railway, Light & Power Company, recently acquired by Denver capital.

At Albuquerque on the 13th inst. a number of poor people living in tents and tent houses in the eastern part of the city were astonished to find dollars and five dollar bills under their doors, this being the unique method of philanthropy of H. W. Gassard, a Chicago millionaire corset manufacturer, who was in the city visiting friends.

Merritt C. Mechem, the new judge of the Seventh Judicial District, recently confirmed after some opposition in Washington, was tendered a big reception at Socorro on his arrival to establish the court headquarters of the new district. The opera house was filled with citizens; addresses of welcome were made, to which Judge Mechem responded, and the affair wound up with a grand ball.

Judge McFie has appointed Ira Grimshaw United States court commissioner to succeed the late Gen. John P. Victory of Santa Fe.

Game Warden Gable was recently notified of the arrest and conviction of Harland Boyer at Hagerman, Chaves county, for dynamiting the lower Pecos for fish.

Mrs. George Dixon of Santa Fe has been appointed matron and vice-principal of the new territorial Spanish-American Normal school at El Rito, Rio Arriba county.

Sheriff Shoots Former Deputy.

A Magdalena dispatch of the 13th inst. says: Deputy Sheriff Daniel Archuleta of Socorro county, early this morning shot and mortally wounded former Deputy Sheriff Y. S. Carmody in the latter's saloon here, as the culmination of a quarrel between the two men arising from an old grudge.

Carmody, who was shot through the bowels, the bullet coming out of his back, is expected to die at any minute, and Archuleta, who at once surrendered, was taken to Socorro, where he is now in jail, closely guarded, awaiting a hearing.

The men had been drinking and had trouble at a sporting house about midnight. Later they renewed the quarrel and after a few hot words Archuleta drew his revolver, fired, and Carmody dropped, mortally wounded.

A bystander, Miguel Valardia, who attempted to disarm Archuleta, was shot through the hand. A brother of Carmody then drew his revolver and fired four times at Archuleta, but without effect.

The shooting was witnessed by ten or a dozen men who were in the saloon.

Archuleta was recently appointed deputy to succeed Carmody, and bitter feeling resulted. Archuleta came here not long ago from the Mogollon mountain country, where he had the reputation of being a bad man, ready with his gun.

Carmody was 35 years old and leaves a wife and children. Intense excitement has followed the shooting, as Carmody was popular here.

Transfer of Prisoners.

A bunch of desperate men, heavily ironed, were transferred to Las Vegas for safe keeping from Clayton, where the county jail is being rebuilt.

The party included George, Dan and Homer Jameson, awaiting the action of the grand jury for the alleged murder of Deputy Sheriff Kent, near Potosi, some weeks ago, during a battle between a sheriff's posse and a band of supposed horse thieves; Clarence Hamilton, alleged rustler and all-around bad man, and two other men alleged to have stolen horses.

The prisoners were in charge of Sheriff Snyder of Union county and Jailer Garcia. The latter gained some notoriety recently when he shot and killed City Marshal Pete Barker, in Clayton, during a street affray.

Water Right Decisions.

The water commissioners, in session at Santa Fe, decided the appeal of Aubrey & Crozier of the Mohawk canal, sustaining Territorial Engineer Sullivan, with slight modifications, granting the appellants 10,000 acres in New Mexico on the Arizona boundary.

The board also sustained the engineer in granting N. B. May the right to construct irrigation works in Tortolita creek, near Nogal, Lincoln county, over the protest of Sidney Wilcox, and in the appeals of the Victoria Land & Cattle Company and Lyman H. McNett, affirmed the right of the former to the sole use of the waters of Apache Tejo in Grant county.

S. M. Martinez, aged 70, a ranch owner from Gallinas, was found on the morning of the 13th inst. in a narrow alleyway between the Claire hotel at Santa Fe and a business block, with broken hip and thigh and a fractured arm. He was taken to the hospital, but his recovery is doubtful. He mistook an outer stairway for a private entrance to the hotel and, climbing the stairway, walked off the platform, falling thirty feet. A few hours afterward Rosalie Mora broke his thigh at the steep embankment of the Santa Fe reservoir. He slipped and fell on a jagged rock. He is 50 years old, but will recover.

The great Strobel airship will be at the New Mexico Fair and Resource Exposition at Albuquerque October 11th to 17th. It is a monster dirigible balloon, propelled by a gasoline engine that turns an air screw.

Marietta Wood has arrived from Denver to take the position of principal of the United States Indian Industrial school at Santa Fe, having been transferred from the Indian school at Carlisle. Her home is at Danville, Ill. M. Buchanan of Colorado Springs has been assigned as teacher at the Indian school and A. M. Hyler of Los Angeles as engineer in charge of the heating plant and machinery.

A Gallup dispatch says: After a preliminary hearing before the United States commissioner at Gallup, Charles Yazzi, a Navajo Indian, was held to the grand jury under $1,000 bond for making a deadly assault with an axe upon another Indian. Yazzi split his opponent's head open with an axe and the victim is now at the point of death in a Gallup hospital, not having regained consciousness.

Ben Tucker, alias Baca, was held at Santa Fe in $1,000 bail for the District Court on the charge of sending threatening letters to an Indian girl named Ella, a domestic in a local family, threatening her with death unless she sent him money.

Incorporation papers have been filed at Santa Fe by the Carlsbad Guano & Fertilizer Company of Carlsbad, capital $50,000. The incorporators and directors are J. D. Langford, A. Gregor, Edwin N. Jahn, N. B. Hinkley and J. L. Yarnell of Redlands, Cal., and C. R. Brice of Carlsbad.

Must Expect Dry Seasons.

An Albuquerque dispatch of the 9th inst. says: Prof. E. J. Iddings of the Colorado Agricultural college, and field commissioner for the Dry Farming Congress, is here in conference with Prof. J. D. Tinsley, soil physicist of the New Mexico College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, regarding the progress of dry farming in this territory.

Professor Tinsley has been active in the formation of farmers' institutes all over New Mexico and has done much toward making the dry farming system succeed in this territory.

Professor Tinsley, Governor Curry and the secretary of the Bureau of Immigration have been investigating complaints from many farmers in the Estancia valley and other dry farming districts, some of whom have appealed to the governor for aid.

It is found that while rains have fallen all over the territory, they have fallen in spots, and in many scattered districts the dry farmers who did not take proper precautions have suffered seriously from the drought. This season has demonstrated the fact that while dry farming on the mesa lands is a success, it should not be undertaken unless the homesteader has enough capital to start with to tide him over at least one dry season.

The investigation of conditions being made by the governor and immigration bureau shows that where the industrious farmer has taken this precaution, he will get through the year comfortably, and that most of the complaint comes from the class of homesteaders who filled off dry farming land without taking the risk of one dry season into account. In general the rains have been sufficient to assure fair crops on unirrigated lands, but there are some scattered farms the rains have missed where the settlers have failed.

County Seat Contests.

Under date of the 9th inst. the Albuquerque correspondent of the Denver Republican says: It is likely that the historic town of Lincoln, N. M., famous as the center of fierce cattle wars, an old stamping ground of Billy the Kid, the noted outlaw, and for thirty years one of the most famous of Southwestern towns, will lose the county seat of Lincoln county.

The town of Carrizozo, on the El Paso & Southwestern road, has been waging a vigorous fight to secure the county seat and the county commissioners have called a special election to decide the question August 17th. Lincoln is reached only by means of a long overland trip by stage from the railroad, and its inaccessibility is the strongest ground for removal of the county seat.

Another hot county seat fight is in progress in Valencia county, just south of here. Belen, the growing little city at the junction of the Belen cut-off and the Rio Grande division of the Santa Fe, is after the county seat, now located at Los Lunas. Today a big delegation of Belen boosters went to Los Lunas to register a protest with the county commissioners against the proposed building of a new $25,000 court house at Los Lunas until the county seat location is submitted to a vote of the people.

Looking Up Convict's Record.

A Pueblo, Colo., dispatch of the 9th inst. says: Information was received here today which leads the sheriff to believe that C. C. Collins, the confessed street car thief, is the man who held up and killed the proprietor of a restaurant at Las Vegas, N. M. Sheriff Romero of Las Vegas has written here that he can positively identify Collins as one of the three men who killed the restaurant keeper. Collins was to have been sentenced today on the charge of holding up a street car here about three weeks ago, but it was postponed as his record in Las Vegas may determine the length of sentence he receives here.

Saloon Injunction Stands.

After hearing testimony for two days at Santa Fe in the case of J. P. Dunlavy vs. J. D. Hunter and L. H. Mullen, Judge McFie in a verbal decision in which he discussed a number of interesting law points, made permanent the injunction restraining the defendants from establishing a saloon on what they claimed is an addition to the townsite of Mountainair.

The decision was based upon the territorial law prohibiting boards of county commissioners from granting licenses to applicants in settlements having less than 100 inhabitants.

The townsite of Mountainair is laid out under a proviso that no lots should be sold for places in which strong drink is to be dispensed. The defendants sought to overcome this by platting an addition of 280 acres to the original townsite, but the addition was in no manner tied to the original townsite and Judge McFie holds that the plat of a townsite for a town that is unincorporated defines the limits of the town.

Max Gardener, alleged to be a moral degenerate, held at Santa Fe awaiting deportation to Germany as an undesirable alien, and who had been in business in Albuquerque and Santa Fe, and who in addition to unmentionable practices is accused of embezzling and other offenses, was caught filling his way through the steel bars at the county jail and had almost succeeded in cutting them. He had a file and two knives which could have reached him only from outside friends.

They Were Good Mothers.

Elizabeth Cady Stanton is quoted as saying that a woman's first duty is to develop all her powers and possibilities, that she may better guide and serve the next generation. Mrs. Stanton raised seven uncommonly healthy and handsome children, says an admirer of hers, and the children of Mrs. Julia Ward Howe testify to the virtues of the noted woman as a mother. The eagle may be as good a mother as the hen or the goose.

IN AGONY WITH ECZEMA.

Whole Body a Mass of Raw, Bleeding, Torturing Humor—Hoped Death Would End Fearful Suffering.

In Despair; Cured by Cuticura.

"Words cannot describe the terrible eczema I suffered with. It broke out on my head and kept spreading until it covered my whole body. I was almost a solid mass of sores from head to foot. I looked more like a piece of raw beef than a human being. The pain and agony endured seemed more than I could bear. Blood and pus oozed from the great sore on my scalp, from under my finger nails, and nearly all over my body. My ears were so crusted and swollen I was afraid they would break off. Every hair in my head fell out. I could not sit down, for my clothes would stick to the raw and bleeding flesh, making me cry out from the pain. My family doctor did all he could, but I got worse and worse. My condition was awful. I did not think I could live, and wanted death to come and end my frightful sufferings.

"In this condition my mother-in-law begged me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I said I would, but had no hope of recovery. But oh, what blessed relief I experienced after applying Cuticura Ointment. It cooled the bleeding and itching flesh and brought me the first real sleep I had had in weeks. It was as grateful as ice to a burning tongue. I would bathe with warm water and Cuticura Soap, then apply the Ointment freely. I also took Cuticura Resolvent for the blood. In a short time the sores stopped running, the flesh began to heal, and I knew I was to get well again. Then the hair on my head began to grow, and in a short time I was completely cured. I wish I could tell everybody who has eczema to use Cuticura. Mrs. Wm. Hunt, 135 Thomas St., Newark, N. J., Sept. 28, 1908."

Severe.

Samuel Gompers was talking in the smokeroom of the Baltic about a recent newspaper attack on a rich corporation.

"It was a cruel attack," Mr. Gompers chuckled. "It was as cruel as the Jonesville Clarion's paragraph about old Deacon Hiram Ludlow."

"This paragraph headed the Clarion's obituary column. It said: 'Deacon Hiram Ludlow of Frisbie township, aged 82, passed peacefully away on Thursday last from single blessedness to matrimonial bliss after a short but severe attack by Maria Higgins, a blooming widow of 37 summers.'—Detroit Journal.

Look at the Names.

In 4 A. D. Fearadhaich-Fionashtna was an Irish king, a "most just and good prince," who was slain by his successor, Fiachadh-Fion, who was treated to a similar fate by Fiachadh-Fionnadh, "the prince with the white cows," who died at the hands of "the Irish plebeians of Connaught." Eochair-Moldmedhain was one of the half dozen who died of natural causes, and Flaithbeathnach was one of the two to resign the monarch's scepter for the monk's cowl.—New York Press.

Getting at the Root.

Fair Patient—Oh, doctor, I'm positively all run down and I'm so miserable, I have that tired feeling all the time.

Physician—No doubt. Let me see your tongue.—Cleveland Leader.

BAD DREAMS

Caused by Coffee.

"I have been a coffee drinker, more or less, ever since I can remember, until a few months ago I became more and more nervous and irritable, and finally I could not sleep at night for I was horribly disturbed by dreams of all sorts and a species of distressing nightmare.

"Finally, after hearing the experience of numbers of friends who had quit coffee and were drinking Postum, and learning of the great benefits they had derived, I concluded coffee must be the cause of my trouble, so I got some Postum and had it made strictly according to directions.

"I was astonished at the flavor and taste. It entirely took the place of coffee, and to my very great satisfaction, I began to sleep peacefully and sweetly. My nerves improved, and I wish I could wear every man, woman and child from the unwholesome drug—ordinary coffee.

"People really do not appreciate or realize what a powerful drug it is and what terrible effect it has on the human system. If they did, hardly a pound of it would be sold. I would never think of going back to coffee again. I would almost as soon think of putting my hand in a fire after I had once been burned.

"A young lady friend of ours had stomach trouble for a long time, and could not get well as long as she used coffee. She finally quit coffee and began the use of Postum and is now perfectly well. Yours for health."

FEARFUL WRECK ON DENVER AND RIO GRANDE RAILROAD

Nine Dead and Sixty-two Injured in Collision at Husted, North of Colorado Springs

Colorado Springs.—Nine dead and sixty-two injured was the carnage up to midnight as a result of the head-on collision on the Denver & Rio Grande at Husted, twelve miles north of Colorado Springs Saturday morning.

Five hundred souls have looked into eternity and nine have not looked back. Still others are battling for life with the odds against them. That the death list will be swelled a half dozen more is probable, judging from the injuries sustained by that many.

The cause: The members of the crew in charge of train No. 8 northbound read their orders to wait at Husted for No. 1 second section southbound, and then espied an engine on the sidetrack. Its end was obscured by a thick undergrowth, and, mistaking it for the engine of train No. 1, they went ahead.

Train No. 1 was rounding the curve less than 300 yards away. Its conductor saw No. 8 approaching. He applied the airbrakes and No. 1 was stopped. No. 8, oblivious to the fate that awaited it, double-headed, just had time to apply the airbrakes before it crashed into No. 1.

The impact was terrific. Three giant locomotives came together, built a pyramid and then toppled over.

The tender of No. 8's second engine forced its way into the combination baggage car and smoker of No. 1, putting it on end and injuring only two persons.

The combination smoker and baggage car of No. 8 was split in twain, its human cargo was hurled through windows, pinioned under seats, shot through windows, pinioned under seats, shot through the roof. Death and destruction were everywhere.

In that car the carnage was greatest. There were two coaches, an observation car, a chair car and two sleepers behind the combination smoker and baggage car on No. 8. They carried upwards of 278 passengers.

Behind the first coach on train No. 1 were two observation cars, the train carrying in all 187 passengers.

Nearly three score were injured. As many had miraculous escapes and the brown and red of the hillside ran rivulets of blood.

Bodies were hurled through closed windows, across the railroad right-of-way and into enclosed pastures; others fell down the embankment and the groans of the dying and the shrieks of the injured rang in the ears of the more fortunate.

It all happened in the twinkling of an eye. Passengers saw their seat companions carried into eternity as a candle is snuffed out, while they themselves were left blinking and only half-conscious of what had taken place.

It was a wreck without reason. One little girl, name unknown, was thrown as from a catapult through an open window up in the air ten feet or more and alighted at the bottom of the embankment, none the worse for her experience.

A man, D. W. Johnson of Denver, engineer of No. 1, was pulled from under the body of J. A. Gossage, fireman on the other train, with only his left hip and back injured. Gossage was killed outright.

There are forty-four men and eighteen women in the list of injured. Not one woman was fatally hurt.

Some little children escaped without a scratch. One boy, half-grown, received some bruises on his leg. His father, who sat beside him, had his leg broken.

There were other strange features and many coincidences. Fireman Gossage met death almost in his front yard. His wife and four children, living on a ranch at Husted, were the first to arrive on the scene. Mrs. Gossage swooned in the arms of sympathetic passengers.

The little ones clapped their hands and gleefully shouted "Papa!" They did not know their father was beyond the range of tiny voices!

The scenes were heartrending. With 400 men, women and children on the escape list there was a state of panic aboard the relief train.

Dr. Henry W. Hoagland and Dr. C. F. Stough were among the first physicians to reach the scene. Miss Margaret Kredel, a trained nurse, happened to get aboard at Palmer Lake and she was kept busy during the short ride to the Springs.

The dead and dying had the right of way of Colorado Springs streets all afternoon and night. Every dead wagon was pressed into service, and carriages and automobiles were used for ambulances.

List of the Dead.

Pure Food Congress at Denver.

Denver.—Pure Food Commissioner Wilbur F. Cannon has received a programme of the proceedings for the thirteenth annual convention of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy departments to be held in the city of Denver on August 24th to 27th. Among those who will attend are Secretary of Agriculture James Wilson, A. D. Melvin of Washington, D. C.; George P. McCabe of Washington, Dr. H. W. Wiley of Washington, and other heads of federal departments. One thousand dollars has been donated for entertaining the delegates.

School of Agriculture.

Fort Collins.—The new school of agriculture and domestic economy, to be conducted in connection with the Colorado Agricultural College, will begin its first term Tuesday, October 5th. There will be a six months' term each year for three years, with a final nine months' term the fourth year for those who desire to take the full college course after they have completed their studies in the agricultural academy. Prof. T. M. Netherton, owner of a big fruit farm near Montrose and an educator of ability, has been appointed principal of the school.
